Contest Between Rector Road and the Vestry-The Election To-day. Both sides in the struggle which is dis turbing the hitherto peaceful career of Trinity Church, Newark, have endeavored to explain their positions by means of circulars addresses to the congregation. The circulars are manly and temperate, but they fall to explain entirely the reason for desiring to change the manage-ment of the church in any particular. The ability of the Rev. J. Sanders Reed is not and has not been questioned by any one. The only trouble seems to be that he has, within a year or two, got beyond that control which the ves trymen deem necessary for the safety of their time-honored rights. The question of the au-thority of the vestrymen seems to be the only one which disturbs the congregation, and the division line is drawn between those who Insist that the vestry is the supreme managing board and those who wish to give the rector latitude and would elect a new set of vestrymen who will not often oppose him in church management. No one seems to know just who it was that started the new ticket, but it appears that about five weeks ago the movement was begun with the intention of electing a vestry which would give the rector fuller support than the present vestry does, and that it originated among new members of the congregation, who were chiefly drawn to the church by Mr. Reed's eloquence, and who are his strongest admirers. The first step was to allow the impression to obtain that some of the old vestrymen opposed Mr. Reed and would like to have him resign. This was undoubtedly a false impression, as it is impossible to find a man in the present vestry who is not a warm admirr of Mr. Reed in the pulpit, and a thorough believer in his honesty of purposs and his sincere interest in the progress of the church. But the advocates of a change let the erroneous impression get abroad in the congregation and commenced active canvassing for votes in support of a new vestry ticket. Whether undignified means were used in procuring votes remains to be seen. It is charged that they were, and that the tactice of a ward primary were but little more undignified than those which were resorted to. It is charged that several of the new members endeavored to "colonize" the church by giving seats to friends who were not members of Trinity congregation. In proof of this statement the following letter is shown:

New Mrs. March 10, 1897.

New Dan Sin: A sitting in the pew gailery is hereby placed at your disposal. You will into receipted bill enclosed. The receipted bill was as follows: one which disturbs the congregation, and the division line is drawn between those who in-

The receipted bill was as follows:

To two months' rent of pew No. 34 O. from Feb. 1, 1887, April 1, 1887, $0.63. Received payment.
W. W. Hulliss. Mr. Hulliah is the sexton and Mr. W. Campbell Clark is Mrs. Thomas T. Kinney's son-inlaw and the son of the head of the Clark Thread Company. It is said that there are several such letters and receipts in existence, and that within the last few weeks sittings have been rented to about forty persons who had praviously no connection with the church. To offset this some of the young men belonging to old families having pews in the church have left the family pews and hired independent sittings, that they may vote for the old vestrymen, Atarecent meeting of the vestry Mr. Courtlandt Parker, the warden, referred to the trouble, and earnestly pleaded for harmony and a peaceful settlement. At the close of his remarks the vestrymen turned to the rector, expecting him to second Mr. Parker's plea, but he merely remarked, after hesitating for a few moments, that the matter had then gone so far that it must be left for the congregation to decide at the meeting for election. This meeting will be held to-day, and though at previous elections not a score of members have attended on this occasion.

Mr. Reced became rector of Trinity Church in elections not a score of members have attended it is believed that the building will be crowded on this occasion.

Mr. Reed became rector of Trinity Church in January, 1885. His health was not good for several years previous, and shortly after he took charge he broke down and was advised to go abroad. He went to France in June, and remained there until late in the fall. On his return he preached through the winter and spring, and when June came around again he announced his intention of returning to France, and said that he had provided a substitute. He made the announcement to the congregation on Sunday, and said that he would sail on the following Saturday and remain away four or five months, it was a great surprise to the vestrymen, to whom he had not told his intentions. They thought that he should have consuited them about his leave of absence, and that they should certainly have had something to say in the choice of the preacher who was to fill the pulpit. They raised a protest against Mr. Reed's action, but he was firm in insisting that it was within the bounds of his rights as the rector of the parish, and he would not yield. This was about a month after Mr. Reed peremptority demanded the resignation of his assistant, Mr. Wines, without consulting the vestry, and that body rebelled. This was the beginning of the present trouble.

Harvey S. Durnall, formerly a clerk in the Patent Office at Washington, engaged board at the Col-ennade Hotel about a week ago, and at once made him-self conspicuous by ordering expensive meals with wine and not eating or drinking what he ordered-at least he ate but little and contented himself with merely fondly the bottles of wine which were orough. As an which proved the perquisites of the walters, he endeared himself to them by his eccentricities, but he did not make himself agreeable to the other innance of the hotel by the hows he indujed in when in his room at night.

After ordering wine for dinner and not drinking it as manal yesterday, he pind his bill, and, taking up his valles, quitted the hotel. He went no further than the allewalk, where he wood brolling in the hot sun for the next three hours. As his conduct was manifestly that of next three hours. As his conduct was manifestly that of some conduct has been also been al

The Policeman Stopped Him with a Bullet, Policeman Millmore of Capt. Killilea's command caught a fellow stealing a can of milk in Sixty-third street, between the Boulevard and Ninth avenue, about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. He collared him, only to be tripped up by him at Ninth avenue and Sixty-first street. The thief then ran down the avenue, but first street. The thief then ran down the avenue, but Millmore stopped him at Sixtieth street by shooting him in the right arm above the elbow. Although the bullet went through the liesby part of the arm it only made a painful wound, and after the injury had been dressed at the Roosevelt Hospital the would be milk-can stealer was locked up in the Forty-swienth street station. Hefore this was done he was searched, and in his pock-ts were found glass receptacles containing sweet oil and pepper, such as are used in cheap restaurants. He also had $6.00 and a lot of brase door keys. He described aimself as Frank J. Noble, aged 34, a watchman.

A Barber's Unaccountable Suicide.

Charles Hoffman, a young German employed Charles Hoffman, a young German employed in Philip Schulz's barber ishop at 37 First avenue, was not at his post, or rather chair, on Saturday, and people wondered whether he had sailed for Germany to get the fortune he had sail somebody had left him there.

Vesterday the report of a pistol attracted attention to the closet of the lodging house at 13st Rowery, and when the door, which was locked, was broken in Hoffman was found insensible with a builtet hole in his left templs. The pistol with which he had shot himself was beside him. He was taken to St. Vincent's liospital in a dying condition. He is supposed to have been insane, as there was no cause for his act, although his sury about inheriting a fortune in Germany is believed to have been mythical. His parents were dead, and he had no relatives in this country. He died hast night.

A Boston Printer in Trouble. William J. Kennith went into the Eldridge william J. Kennith went into the Eldridge street station house about 3 o'clock yesterday morning with several other persons interested in an excise arrest. In the station house he pulled his handkerchief out of his pocket, and with it came out a skeleton key, at least Follosman Long and Keep said that the instrument same out of Kennith's pocket. Kennith said at Lesex Market that he was a printer, living at 16 Rosewell street; that he did not have the pick-lock and never saw it until the officers charged him with dropping it. He had not a cent. He was held for examination.
